PREVENTION RULES
Caregivers will enforce and discuss, if appropriate, the following prevention rules with all family members living in their home:

1) Caregivers will establish reasonable guidelines concerning what level of supervision (auditory, visual in the same room) is required for persons living in the home. All at-risk children including sexually victimized and sexually aggressive or reactive children newly placed with caregivers will require at least visual supervision until they become better known to the caregivers, such as during respite placements.

2) Older children will never be responsible for baby-sitting or supervising younger children.

3) Caregivers will limit access to bedrooms by establishing and enforcing ground rules on who is allowed to visit whose bedroom and under what conditions. Family members will respect personal space, such as knocking before entering a room.
4) Caregivers will encourage, model and support open communication among family members about important events occurring in the home. No secrets among family members are allowed.

5) No pornographic material (magazines, pictures, internet or video) in the home.

6) Caregivers will model and enforce appropriate physical boundaries among family members living in the home. Physical affection between children should be brief and should avoid bodily contact such as lying together or sitting on laps.

7) Children will never be together in a bedroom or bathroom behind closed doors.

8) All family members will bathe, shower and toilet separately, with the door fully closed (except when caregivers need to assist young children who may need help).

9) All family members will sleep in their own beds.

10) Family members will respect personal space such as knocking before entering a room.

11) Caregivers will establish a dress code which outlines the type of clothing that is acceptable and under what circumstances.

12) No alleged or registered sexual offenders will be allowed to associate or have contact with client.

13) No sexual behavior will be permitted in front of children and any sexual acting out behavior demonstrated by client or other known children will be reported to client’s Family Care Counselor and/or Therapist.

14) Clothes will be worn at all times by all family members.

15) The caregivers will follow all psychiatric and counseling recommendations. Caregivers will support the child(ren)’s therapy by participating and keeping regular communication with the Therapist about relevant issues.

16) Caregivers will hang up the “House Rules” form (attached) in a highly visible area of the home and will review it frequently with the child(ren).
